Ethos Academy is born fully grown, training based on continuity

Ethos Academy is born from the experience already matured by Ethos Media Group over many years' activity in the sector of security, information and training, as well as technical, regulatory and managerial updating on matters relating to security and privacy.

Ethos Academy is now to be considered an autonomous entity. It has been created to enhance its role as guide, custodian and connoisseur of the educational values of the sector it represents.

Ethos Academy therefore avails itself of the learning methods, relationships, teachers and infrastructures of an operator recognized as a leader in the training field, both by those who have attended its programmes in recent years, and by the associations and companies who have supported its organization.

Its teachers are all professionals esteemed by the Institutes that have recognized its single training programmes.

The extraordinary acclaim it has received confirms once more the role it has fulfilled till now and the know-how acquired by Ethos Academy.

Look!
Active courses!
Unmissable!

Our training programmes

To update on the latest developments concerning privacy, to impart knowledge to all operators/managers and DPOs, not just relating to video-surveillance but also to daily company management.

Privacy Channel

Regulatory Training

To favour acquisition of skills regarding current regulations on security systems; to enhance professional performance by bringing plants and solutions in line with regulatory standards.

To facilitate acquisition of the technical skills needed by security operators, creating the premises for the diffusion of solutions that are increasingly evolved, higher performing and reliable.

Technical Training

Managerial Training

To satisfy the needs of managers, junior managers and team leaders; to overcome personal limits, to resolve problems, to improve and develop managerial skills in the company and in handling collaborators.

Enter the world of change! Digital evolution requires attention to information systems security in professional, company, private and public life, in line with ICT Security.

Cyber Security

In-company, in-class or e-learning training

Our training programmes can be customized for the company. Our entire training programme, whether in-class or by e-learning, can also be customized for the client company on the basis of its specific needs. Content and methodology, in-class sessions, on-line learning and coaching will be defined together. All our initiatives can be implemented at the offices of the client company/institution or in external locations.

Privacy Channel Training

A sector entirely dedicated to updating on Privacy matters, in the light of the new European regulations. The programme envisages a basic course, a specialized course and a master for the training of operators, Data Protection Officers and private and Public Administration managers who require updating on the various provisions, not only relating to video-surveillance but also to daily company management.

Show-training with tailor-made formula

Skills cannot be simply improvised today, so training is becoming an important part of professional activities. Training is not easy, however, and the time dedicated to it tends to be at the expense of company time. A format was therefore needed that would make participation easier and learning swifter. Thus was born show-training, with a mix of music, slides, videos and amusing gags.
